Subject: Support, SB-72, Senator Roger Niello

Dear Senator Niello:

The California Chamber of Commerce is writing to express our enthusiastic and strong support for SB 72, the Public-Private Workforce Pipeline Act.

The urgent need for a skilled, employable workforce is the most important issue facing our members in every industry, and it is directly addressed by this legislation. SB 72 creates a direct pipeline from the classroom to careers in high-demand industries like advanced manufacturing, information technology, healthcare, and engineering by establishing a formal framework for partnerships between California's top public universities and the business community.

We at the Chamber, appreciate in particular the fact that the bill requires consultation with our body and local industry groups. The provision in which businesses that participate in the program provide priority interviews to program graduates is a result driven initiative, which, as we understand, is primarily concentrated on obtaining tangible job placement and career success. Since this bill is funded by the existing resources, without the need for new appropriations, it is, therefore, a model of efficient, collaborative governance. SB 72 is a smart move that will keep California competitive, make it easier for businesses to grow and, most importantly, create wonderful opportunities for students.

For these reasons, the California Chamber of Commerce respectfully urges your strong support for SB 72. We are excited about our obligatory participation in its execution and the prospect of creating a more robust workforce that will benefit all Californians.

Sincerely,

The California Chamber of Commerce
